

SYSTEM TO INTERPRET ITEM IDENTIFIERS

ABSTRACT

A system to obtain item information includes capture of an image of an item identifier, transmission of the image, and, in response to the transmission, reception of item information associated with an item identified by the item identifier. Embodiments of this system allow usage of item identifiers and associated item information by any system in which an image can be transmitted and item information can be received.